

Let's Talk Story: The Importance of Conversations about What Matters Most

Maui County Office on Aging, Kokua Mau and Hospice Maui invite you to meet with our visiting guest, Rev. Rosemary Lloyd from the Conversation Project. Rosemary will be sharing some of her experiences working nationally on how faith matters in working with people facing serious illness and how faith communities can become partners for healthcare professionals. She will share her non-profit's free tools and resources to help you engage in essential, values-based conversations about what matters most about living.

The Conversation Project is a national public engagement campaign dedicated to helping people talk about their wishes for end-of-life care, so those wishes will be respected.
